

CONTRIBUTORS

Anne Garner is Curator of Rare Books and Manuscripts at The New York Academy of Medicine Library. She has a BA in Classics from Loyola University in Baltimore, completed graduate coursework in Classics at the University of California, Los Angeles, and holds an MSLIS from the Pratt Institute in New York, with a certification in Archives. Anne's research interests include marginalia, archival collections, and the history of libraries. She has been a member of the Grolier Club since 2015. Previous publications include articles in American Libraries and Library Journal.

Johanna Goldberg is an Informationist at Columbia University Medical Center's Augustus C. Long Health Sciences Library. From August 2012 to June 2016, she worked as the Information Services Librarian at The New York Academy of Medicine, providing reference and instruction services and overseeing the social media working group. She holds a BA in English literature from Goucher College and an MSLIS from the Pratt Institute. She is particularly interested in library communications and outreach.

Jacob Gordon is the Reference and Instructional Technology Librarian at the L.A. Beeghly Library at Juniata College. He obtained his MLS with a focus on Archives, Preservation and Records Management from the University of Pittsburgh and a BA in History from Juniata College. His professional interests include instruction methodologies, World War I, the history of books, and special collections.

Laila Hussein Moustafa is Assistant Professor and Middle Eastern and North African Studies Librarian in the University Library at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, as well as Adjunct Assistant Professor in the iSchool at U of I. Laila focuses her research interests on cultural heritage preservation and disaster management planning in time of conflict. Before joining the University of Illinois, Laila worked at New York University and, outside of academe, Laila has worked as a researcher with Human Rights First, Human Rights Watch, and Landmine Survivors Network. Laila received her Master of Near Eastern Studies from New York University and a Master in Information Science from the Palmer School at Long Island University in New York.

Rebecca Pou is the Archivist at The New York Academy of Medicine Library, a position she has held since 2008. She is primarily responsible for the description and management of archival and manuscript collections. She is also broadly interested in special collections and social media and contributes to the library's social media team. She has a BA in English & American Literature from New York University and an MSLIS from the Pratt Institute.

Silvia Vong is the Collaborative Learning Librarian at the John M. Kelly Library in the University of St. Michael's College at the University of Toronto. She holds an MLIS from the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario and a MEd from York University in Toronto, Ontario. Silvia's research interests include strategies for teaching information literacy and reflective practices of students and librarians.